EDITORIAL 2021-22

It gives us immense pleasure to present the Annual Report of SNTD Women's University for the academic year 2020-21. The focus of the annual report is to highlight academic activities of various postgraduate departments and conducted colleges. The faculty members along with the students organised and participated in conferences, seminars at national, international, state and local level.

Apart from the academic activities, all the staff members and students participated in co-curricular activities related to current issues. The report reflects that the aim of the University is to enhance academic performance of students and simultaneously make them responsible citizens of India. Youth Festival, sports activities, leadership camps organised for students help in gaining self-confidence and prepare them to face the world confidently. Under the Internship programme, the students gain practical knowledge of the workplace.

The annual report largely depicts the profiles and activities of the postgraduate departments of the University and the significant achievements of the members of the faculty and students. It highlights all the programmes organised during 2021-22 aiming to fulfill the motto of the University 'An Enlightened Woman is a Source of Infinite Strength'.

Foreword by Hon'ble Vice Chancellor

It is with great pleasure that I present to you the annual report of SNDT Women's University for the academic year 2021-22. SNDT Women's University is today synonymous with a world-class institution providing its students knowledge, empowerment and key skills. This journey of SNDT Women's University, the first Women's University in South Asia, is inextricably linked with the indomitable spirit of Maharshi Karve. His visionary ideas and dedication to the cause of women's education have left an indelible mark on our institution, and it is our responsibility to carry forward this legacy. SNDT Women's University has witnessed the transformation of countless lives over the years, with our alumnae making significant contributions to various fields in India and worldwide.

The University's vision is not limited to just imparting knowledge, it extends to nurturing character, instilling values, and fostering a sense of social responsibility among our students. In an era when society is constantly evolving and expanding and we are making significant strides and advancements in technology, we believe it is imperative to equip our students with academic excellence and a strong ethical foundation. This approach, aligned with Maharshi Karve's ideals, has been instrumental in our students' holistic development.

The year 2020-21 witnessed SNDT Women's University taking firm steps to make education accessible and meaningful to women from all walks of life, transcending social, economic, and geographical boundaries. Many key initiatives were taken in line with the guidelines provided by NEP 2020 which emphasizes a learner-centric approach, fostering critical thinking, creativity, and problem-solving skills. In this we have initiated flagship ventures like, CHETNA - Center for Holistic Education, Training and Novel Advancements, Bhartiya Gyan Sanskrit Evam Yog Kendra, ATMABODH, and Mindfulness Cell, to name a few. All with the aim of providing holistic, quality education to our students, integrating and blending modern teaching methods and technology while preserving our rich tradition.

Another highlight of education at SNDT is our focus on multidisciplinary education and research. Recognizing the complex challenges of today's dynamic world scenario, we have created interdisciplinary programs, research innovation and incubation center - WISE to facilitate the spirit of entrepreneurship and collaboration between different fields of study and research. Internationalisation is also another focus area with the University collaborating with international agencies and institutions to make research and education of international standards more accessible and approachable to our students.

Our faculty and students have also made significant contributions to their respective fields in the area of research. Our faculties have been publishing at international and national fora and our students have won us accolades in research and innovation competitions at the state and national level. Our students have participated and excelled in cultural and sports activities at the state and national levels. We encourage our students to actively participate in community service, engage in outreach programs, and advocate for the betterment of society through our NSS and NCC programs and our faculty and students have won us laurels as NSS volunteers and NCC Cadets at the state and national levels,

We take pride in our alumnae, who have achieved remarkable success and are actively engaged in fields such as science, technology, literature, politics, business, and social service. They are living examples of our commitment to providing education that empowers women to lead and inspire. As we celebrate our past, we also look forward to the future with a sense of purpose and commitment. We are determined to continue our journey of providing quality education, fostering research and innovation, and creating socially responsible leaders. Our aspiration is to be recognised as a global front-runner in women's education, carrying forward the legacy of Maharshi Karve. And I'm sure we are firmly moving towards this goal.

Highlights 2021-22

SNDT Women's University is the first Women's university in India as well as in South-East Asia. The University was founded by Maharshi Dr. Dhondo Keshav Karve in 1916 for a noble cause of Women's Education. The first five women graduated in 1921 from this University. The University Headquarters is in Churchgate Campus, Mumbai and the other two campuses of this University are at Juhu, Mumbai and Karve Road, Pune.

In a century old existence, the university has grown into a multidisciplinary institution hosting diverse professional, technical and liberal arts programmes from K12 to PhD. SNDTWU is probably one such university where there is Nursery school as laboratory for Human Development Department, Centres for Women's Studies, Inclusion and Exclusion, Distance Education, and has affiliated institutions for doctoral programmes. Unlike most university's in the country which have to have state jurisdiction, SNDTWU is unique in terms of jurisdiction. SNDTWU can affiliate colleges/institutions anywhere in India with prior consent from the State Government.

SNDT Women's University is committed to the cause of women's empowerment through access to education, particularly higher education, through relevant courses in the formal and non-formal streams. The university is committed to meet the changing socio-economic needs, with human values and purposeful social responsibility and to achieve excellence with "Quality in every Activity" through vocational and professional courses for women. The motto of the university is "An enlightened woman is a source of infinite strength". There are six institutions recognized by SNDTWU for Ph. D. Research. SNDTWU is a home to 1100 teaching and non-teaching staff members and 50,000 students spread across seven states and a union territory.

SNDT Women's University stands 32nd amongst multi-disciplinary universities of India and ranked fourth in Western India according to the Week-Hansa Research ranking of 2020

SNDT Women's University

Bharat Ratna Maharshi Dhondo Keshav Karve

(18•4•1858 - 9•11•1962)

SNDT Women's University established in 1916 heralded the beginning of formal higher education for women in India and South-East Asia. The institution was the fruition of the founder, Maharshi Dr. Dhondo Keshav Karve's vision for the empowerment of women. The realization was possible with the financial support of the philanthropist Sir Vithaldas Thackersey. The headquarters of the University is at the Churchgate campus in Mumbai and the other two campuses are located at Juhu, Mumbai and Maharshi Karve Road, Pune.

Founder of the University

Bharat Ratna Maharshi Dhonde Keshav Karve (April 18, 1858 - Nov 9, 1962) was a Humanist, an evangel of emancipation both for Hindu widows and for womanhood at large. A pioneering figure moved by the magnificent instinct that upheld the progress of womanhood as the purest and surest test of the progress of civilization, the establishment of Shreemati Nathibai Damodhar Thackersey Indian Women's University was the culmination of an odyssey, which began with the establishment of Hindu Widow's Home Association in 1896 and the Mahila Vidyalaya in 1907. The Women's University was sculpted along the lines of the Women's University in Tokyo. The founding father advocated women's education as instrumental in women's empowerment by enabling them to be economically independent and to be able to think for themselves..

Presidential Address By
Maharshi Dhondo Keshav
Karve at 29th Indian National Social Congress
December
30, 1915

Excerpts from Presidential Address on
'Need for establishing Women's University'

Maharshi Karve was invited to deliver Presidential address at the Indian National Social Congress December 30, 1915 held in Mumbai. Here he first presented his thoughts on the need for Higher Education – A University for women.

Coming now to practical questions that are constantly knocking at our social doors for solution, I must say at the outset that to my mind the greatest need of Indian Society at the present day is education. I do not know if you will all agree with me in placing education at the fore-front of social questions. It may, perhaps it does, have a political aspect. But looking at it socially, want of education is the one canker that has been eating up the vitals of India. If there is injustice and wrong in society, it is because society is mostly buried deep in ignorance. Evil is the offspring of darkness and there can be no darkness blacker than that of ignorance. No wonder if Indian social world appeared to an outsider to be a scene of discord and division. What else can it be when that light which reduces all chaos to order is denied to it? Ninety per cent of the population live and move and have their being without any opportunity of drinking at the living fountain of knowledge. The inner eye with them is never opened. Life to them is no more, no higher, than a struggle of hungry creatures where might has a right to crush all weakness out of existence. The first thing that we ought to look to therefore is universal education. No readjustment of the social polity is possible unless every man, woman and child in the land is able at least to read, write and reckon. On the political platform the cause of universal elementary education was first emphatically espoused by my friend, the late Hon'ble Mr. G.K. Gokhale, and I hope, the late patriot's efforts backed by the unanimous voice of the country will not fail ultimately to bear fruit. But we cannot afford to wait till the Government of the land are pleased to take up the question. We ought to bestir ourselves to supplement the endeavours of government wherever we can.

We are, however more closely concerned here with the education of women and I am afraid, little that may perceptibly count has yet been done in the matter. As early as in 1854 the importance of this branch of education was recognized by the Government, for in that year the memorable despatch on education came, paragraph 83 of which contains the following oft-quoted sentences:

“The importance of female education in India cannot be overrated; and we have observed with pleasure the evidence which is now afforded of an increased desire on the part of many of the natives of India to give a good education to their daughters. By this means a far greater proportional impulse is imparted to the educational and moral tone of the people than by the education of men.”

Permit me now, ladies and gentlemen, to place before you approximately my idea of secondary and higher education for women. It is based fundamentally upon the recognition of two principles. (1) That the most natural and therefore efficient medium of instruction is the learner’s mother tongue. (2) And secondly, that women as a class have different functions to fulfill in the social economy from those of men.

These two principles will commend themselves to all dispassionate thinkers and have been accepted by educational experts. Whenever the day for the wholesale adoption of vernaculars as media of instruction through-out the whole educational course for boys comes, we ought not to wait for it in the case of girls. There are no political or economic reasons present and the sooner we begin to impart all education primary, secondary higher to girls through the vernaculars, the better, it will be for the race. The second principle too is of vital importance. I do not mean that the way should be rigorously barred against those, whose ambition would be to beat men on their own ground and compete with them for prizes and honours in the existing Universities. Those who would be in a position by intellectual, physical and financial equipment to do so, would certainly be glorious ornaments to their kind and also to the whole community in the present conditions. But we must recognize that both national and social economy required that women should occupy a station of their own distinct from that of men. That they are as integral a part of the social organism as men, is beyond question, but that the office they have to fill is different, though equal perhaps greater in importance is equally true. If men and women therefore, are to be fitted by education to bear their own respective shares in the preservation, development and evolution towards perfection of the whole community, they must be brought up on two different lines. The differentiation in the educational courses must correspond in time and nature approximately to the differentiation in their conscious individuality. This does not imply, let me assure you that the two lines of education should be absolutely independent of each other and mutually exclusive. For after all, whether men or women, they are member of mankind and as such they are at bottom one. In social functions, in life's responsibility and in spheres of work they may differ; but in spirit, in humanity they are one. As far, therefore, as the development and unfolding of their common human nature is concerned, their education must take a common form and shape. They both have to work together hand in hand side by side towards the attainment of the ultimate purpose of the race in the order of creation and have therefore certain common endowments. To call them into play, to foster the instincts, impulses, emotions and faculties, their education too must be common. All the latter differentiation must have under it, about it and within it the common life and soul. In fact, the courses must be like two branches on one and the same stem and must be fed and sustained by the same vital sap. Neither men's nor women's education, therefore, can be sound if it absolutely dissociated from the other. The two must be correlated and co-ordinated must be wedded so as to be two in order to be one.

In framing these secondary and higher courses of studies, we may be guided by the Japan Women's University. A prudent and practical Japanese thinker and worker, Mr. Naruse, conceived the idea of this University and with immense patience and perseverance made it a success to the great advantage of the Japanese nation. So far as our women are concerned our circumstances are very similar to those of Japan and we can profitably turn for guidance to institutions conducted by those people rather than to schools and colleges for women in the West. Mr. Naruse saw in what condition Japanese women were and he pitched his hopes accordingly. He writes:-

"Our aim in establishing the Women's University is neither to copy the higher institutions for women in America and Europe, nor to rival the men's university courses in this country. What we aim at is so to frame our schedules of study as to suit the mental and physical conditions of women at present and to gradually raise the standard in accordance with general progress."

To suit Indian conditions, we shall perhaps have to make a still humbler beginning than the Japanese did. We should devise a course of secondary education for women so adjusted that by the time a girl attains the age of fifteen or sixteen, she should be enabled to complete it. Parents are sure to postpone marriage of their daughter for a year or two if an educational distinction is near at hand for her. This age also is likely to be minimum age of marriage of girls in advanced Indian communities in the very near future.

In devising our courses on these lines, we ought not to make an abrupt departure. The new high school courses for girls ought to be, for the present, accommodated to the courses now in force. They should be complete in themselves for those who, at the close of their high school education will, enter upon their worldly tasks. They should be of a preparatory nature for those who will choose to go to in for higher grades in a vernacular college, while they should also be so framed that girls with the necessary intelligence and ambition may find it easily possible to go in for the matriculation of the present Universities after a couple of years' further preparation.

It will certainly mean an educational experiment, and we may reasonably expect Government to take the lead here as they have done in agriculture. I am aware the finances of Government at the present day are the most strained owing to the abnormal conditions created by the war in Europe, and instead of undertaking new financial responsibilities they would be anxious to use the scissors wherever they could. In these circumstances all that may be legitimately expected of them is the setting apart of a part of their ordinary allotment to the education of women, for making a small beginning in that direction. It will even be a great thing if they set it down as one of the most urgent schemes of the day, to be taken up before everything else when normal times return. Let us hope and pray they soon will. That our empire is bound in the end to come victoriously out of the present struggle, every one of us cannot but be confident. For our cause is righteous. It is only for the early termination of the war that we have to pray.

But even if Government be favourably disposed in the matter their wheels often are too slow to move. It is already late. To wait any longer will be almost suicidal. I would appeal therefore to Indian States, to public bodies, to private Institutions and to men interested in the social amelioration of the country, to take up the matter without further delay, and start experiments which are bound to succeed if only they are pursued with a firm grip. They will yet save the situation if they lose no time in empty discussions. Let them set to work practically. When they have some work already done to show, I feel sure, Government will not be tardy in extending their helping hand to them. The matter is of such grave urgency and far reaching import, that I would urge it on the Conference to take it in hand and to appoint a committee to formulate a scheme with all its details clearly reasoned out and to suggest ways and means to found vernacular high schools and colleges on the lines here advocated. Women's education has sufficiently advanced now for us to take the step.

23.4 Efforts taken to enhance the quality of teaching-learning;

1. Induction training: Every student, on admission, shall be put through a mandatory Induction training to reinforce the fundamental concepts and the required language skills required for the technical education. The model curriculum and the periodicity of this induction training will be separately notified by the AICTE.

As mandated by the AICTE Model Curriculum, the General engineering department of Usha Mittal institute of Technology along with the student council volunteers conducted one-week Student Induction Program for the newly admitted first year engineering students. This year too due to pandemic the Induction Program was held in online mode. About 296 students of F.Y. B. Tech were inducted during this program. The entire program was planned to keep in view the overall personality development of the student which includes soft skills, sports, art and technical skills. This would help the entrants feel comfortable with the cultures of the new institute, allowing them to explore their academic interests and activities, reduce competition and make them work for excellence, promote a steadfast and long-lasting bonding among them, build relationships between teachers and students, give a broader view of life, and build character.

2. Revision of curriculum: Every affiliating Technical University shall constitute subject-wise industry consultation committee (ICC) with the mandate of examining the existing curriculum and for making suitable changes in the curriculum every year. This process shall be completed in the month of December each year for the courses to be offered in the coming Academic year. Each institution, while applying for approval, shall certify completion of this process, which will be mandatory.

3. Mandatory internships: Every student in technical institution shall do internships each spanning 4 to 8 weeks before completion of the under-graduation. In the curriculum the mandatory internship is included in the 7th semester of final year students.

4. Training of teachers: Every teacher in each of the technical education disciplines shall mandatorily undergo an annual refresher course delivered through SWAYAM portal/ MOOCs, encapsulating all the major advances in the field of their study. Online courses would also be prepared and delivered through the SWAYAM platform/MOOCs for improving the pedagogical techniques of the teachers.

Keeping in mind the relevance of the occasion for the prize winners and Medalists, the prize winner students were allowed physically to attend the programme.

In this convocation 16,485 student were awarded their Degrees/Diplomas. The proportion of Bachelor Degrees (13,778) is the highest followed by Master's Degree (2075), Post Graduate Diplomas (199), Diploma/Certificates (404) and Ph. D. students (29). Total 91 of the 120 Gold medalists and Prize winners attended the programme.

Shri Bhagat Singh Koshyari, Honorable Governor, State of Maharashtra and Chancellor of SNDT Women's University virtually presided over the function. Pro Vice Chancellor Shri V N Magare welcomed the Chancellor in person. Delivering his presidential address from Raj Bhawan, Shri Koshyariji emphasized on the values in education and reminded the outgoing students to remember their roots for a brighter future. He focused on the importance of selfless service and compassion.

Hon'ble Chief Guest, Shri Mukul Kanitkar, National Organising Secretary Bharatiya Shikshan Mandal in his Convocation address congratulated the outgoing students on entering into a new phase of life and wished them for the upcoming challenges of life. Elaborating on examples of Gargi and Maitreyi, he implored the fresh graduating students to lead a purposeful life with a determination to serve the family and society.

Professor Shashikala Wanjari, Hon'able Vice Chancellor, SNTD Women's University welcomed the gathering and presented the convocation report. She informed the gathering about the initiatives taken by the University during the lockdown period like Mission Fight Covid, SNTD4U Everyday@ 1, Coursera on Campus, Jagriti Digital Yatra and other academic and extracurricular activities. SNTDWU was the only University in Maharashtra to have conducted Centralized examinations for all its departments and colleges during the pandemic.
